

Career - Periods & Timing

This volume reads your career against the Vimshottari dasha running in your chart. The sections describe how periods shape a working life. (The on-page preview is a static sample and does not compute from your chart.)

Sample report - Healers World narrative preview, not a personalized chart. Sign in and purchase for your own computed reading.

The period you are in

A career does not advance evenly - it moves with the planetary period running over it. Knowing which mahadasha and antardasha are active tells you whether this is a season to push hard, to plant, or to hold steady and let work mature.

Lifting periods

Certain lords, when their period runs, lift the house of work - recognition arrives, doors open, effort is rewarded out of proportion. This report marks those seasons so a major move lands inside one rather than just outside it.

Building periods

Other periods build rather than reward - they ask for patience, skill, and the long game. Misread, they feel like stagnation; read correctly, they are exactly when the foundation of the next rise is poured.

Reading the ladder

Laid end to end, your dasha periods form a ladder. This report reads that ladder against your tenth house, so you can see the arc of a working life rather than only the rung you stand on.